

FOUNDATIONAL CONCEPTS OF DECOLONIAL AND SOUTHERN EPISTEMOLOGIES

Edited by Sinfree Makoni, Anna Kaiper-Marquez,
Magda Madany-Saá and Bassey E. Antia

It is a true pleasure to (re)encounter some of the wise elders (if I may) of the contemporary global struggles against the racist, colonial, patriarchal and capitalist death project. This volume attests to the creativity, tenacity and longevity of such powerful struggles and is a wonderful gift to all, including those who are about to join.

- Julia Suárez Krabbe, Roskilde University, Denmark

For applied linguists who are looking to explore Southern epistemologies and decolonial scholarship, there are few better starting points than this book. The volume brings together some of the most prominent scholars in Southern epistemologies and engages them in conversation, helping readers understand key points of convergence and divergence. If you've been wanting to learn more about Southern perspectives but weren't sure where to start, this is the book for you!

- Alissa J. Hartig, Portland State University, USA

The volume is a unique collection of discussions with leading scholars and political activists concerned with decoloniality, Theories of the South and related fields. It is designed to allow the contributors to tease out the weaknesses and strengths of the concepts, thereby providing nuanced insights. This publication is essential reading for academics, students, and political activists in these fields globally.
